Chrome cylinder head cover

The cylinder head cover with a high-quality chrome surface provides an additional visual individualisation of the vehicle.

Cylinder head cover guard in aluminium or plastic

The cylinder head cover guard in aluminium provides comprehensive protection for the most exposed parts of the flat twin engine. These are protected from scratches and breakage when the bike is put to rough use.

The plastic cover is slightly more discreet in design and provides protection in the event of light falls.

Both versions perfectly highlight the design and lines of the flat twin engine.

Comfort seat

In order to give the R 1200 RT an even wider range of all-round qualities if required, the new single-section comfort seat is available with enhanced, broader padding.

It is also distinguished from the standard seat in its colouring and seams.

The comfort seat is always fitted with seat heating. The seating surfaces for rider and pillion passenger can be heated separately.

The seat height with this seat is 785 mm.

Extra low seat

The extra low single-section seat familiar from the optional extra “lowered suspension” is now available as an individual special accessory.

Due to the wider, enhanced padding of this seat as compared to the standard seat, it further increases the all-rounder qualities of the R 1200 RT. With this seat the seat height is at 765 mm (without optional suspension lowering kit).

The extra low seat is only available without seat heating.

Sports Silencer by Akrapovic®

The Akrapovic® sports silencer adapted to the revised engine is made entirely of titanium. The tailpiece is in twin-scroll design. The “slip-on” silencer, manufactured in top quality craftsmanship not only has an exclusive, dynamic look but also an earthy sound and low weight. The weight saving as compared to the standard rear silencer is over 2kg.
